MPL Supporting Used RMGT Presses: a Common-Sense Strategy

Why RMGT Used? Ask Our Customers

Because MPL is the official RMGT distributor for UK and Ireland, we are able to provide printers with the re-assurance and confidence that is always needed when working with pre-owned presses.

Professional services from MPL include press inspections (for any brand of machine), valuations, decommissioning, as well as commissioning. These factors, and more, will all help take the uncertainty out of working in the used press sector.

MPL can now, with manufacturer support, show the advantages of new verses pre-owned equipment. This can be explained and illustrated, taking the guess work out of the process.

Changing to more competitive formats or benefiting from taking out two presses and replacing them with one ultra-reliable RMGT press can work equally well for a used machine, as well as new. The incredible reliability of RMGT hardware can still result in the lowest cost of ownership of any litho press, offering a user complete peace of mind.

The most recent examples of used presses are often equipped with up-to-the-minute technology, including LED-UV drying, enhanced make-ready features, or even cloud based remote systems. The MPL technical team are fully trained on all of these press features and enhancements, meaning that expert on-site training can be provided. Your press team will learn, first hand, the very best methods to get the best out of your litho investment.

Pre-owned presses can still be upgraded with the latest technology if any specific enhancements are required to improve productivity. A technical consultation with the relevant experts from our team can be arranged to discuss the benefits of such upgrades.

Use our web site to log interest in the latest used RMGT presses available or call head office to discuss your requirements.
